Plaintiff Vicky's Furniture, Inc. ("Vicky's" or "Plaintiff"), individually and on behalf of a class of all those similarly situated, brings this action to recover damages and to obtain injunctive relief for violation of antitrust, consumer protection and unjust enrichment laws against defendants Hickory Springs Manufacturing Company, Valle Foam Industries, Inc., Domfoam International, Inc., The Carpenter Company, The Woodbridge Group, Flexible Foam Products, Inc., Scottdel Inc., Foamex Innovations, Inc., Future Foam, Inc., Vitafoam Products Canada Limited, and Vitafoam Inc. ("Defendants"), which are or were operating in the market known as polyurethane foam in the United States between at least 1999 and the present.<sup>1</sup> Plaintiff Vicky's demands a trial by jury and alleges the following on information and belief:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. This case arises out of a conspiracy among Defendants and their co-conspirators with the purpose and effect of fixing prices of polyurethane foam and polyurethane foam products ("polyurethane foam"). During the Class Period, and earlier, Defendants contracted, combined or conspired to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices and allocate customers for polyurethane foam in the United States, the purpose and effect of which is to maintain supracompetitive prices, by the means and mechanisms described herein. As set forth below, the conspiracy is reflected in specific and detailed communications between and among executives and employees of Defendants and their co-conspirators who have communicated with one another to fix prices and allocate customers.

2. This case is brought as a class action on behalf of all persons who purchased polyurethane foam indirectly from Defendants or their co-conspirators from at least as early as 1999 to the present (hereinafter, the "Class Period").

3. As alleged herein, Defendants explicitly agreed with each other to charge inflated prices for polyurethane foam. Every price increase known during the Class Period was the result of conspiratorial and anti-competitive discussions among Defendants to fix prices. Defendants also engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to allocate customers in specific communications between each other.

<sup>1</sup> Counts two through six are brought on behalf of all indirect purchasers of polyurethane foam from one or more of the Defendants or their co-conspirators in the following states: Arizona, California, District of Columbia, Florida, Hawaii, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wisconsin under the relevant state antitrust, unfair competition and/or consumer protection laws.

4. As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct and price-fixing conspiracy of Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, Plaintiff and the other members of the Class (defined below) have paid more during the Class Period for polyurethane foam than they otherwise would have paid in a competitive market and therefore, have been injured in their respective businesses and property.

5. Plaintiff has been an indirect purchaser of polyurethane foam from one or more of the Defendants during the Class Period. Plaintiff brings this lawsuit as a class action to recover damages suffered by the Class and the costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to enjoin Defendants' anticompetitive conduct, and for such other relief as is afforded under the antitrust, consumer protection, and unjust enrichment laws of the relevant jurisdictions in the United States.

6. Plaintiff also brings this lawsuit as a class action pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 26, to enjoin Defendants' anticompetitive conduct and for costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, and for such other relief as is afforded under the antitrust laws of the United States.

PLAINTIFF

7. Plaintiff Vicky's Furniture, Inc. is a California corporation with its principal place of business located at 8339 Allport Ave., Santa Fe Springs, CA 90670. During the Class Period, Vicky's purchased polyurethane foam indirectly from one or more of the Defendants and suffered injury as a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct.

8. The prices Vicky's paid to Defendants for polyurethane foam were greater than the prices it would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful conduct alleged herein. Vicky's has therefore been injured in its business and property by reason of Defendants' antitrust violations. Vicky's brings this lawsuit as a class action on behalf of itself and all indirect purchasers who, during the Class Period, purchased from vendors selling polyurethane foam manufactured and/or distributed by one or more of the Defendants which resulted in injury.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

34. Plaintiff brings this action to obtain injunctive relief arising from Defendants’ violations of Section 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 26 and Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1, to recover the costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys’ fees, and to seek such other relief as is afforded under the antitrust laws of the United States. Jurisdiction is conferred upon this District pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 26, and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1337.

35. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 15, 22 and 26 and pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b), (c) and (d), because at all times relevant to the Complaint, Defendants transacted business, were found, or acted through subsidiaries or agents present in this District. Additionally, a substantial part of the interstate trade and commerce involved and affected by the alleged violations of the antitrust laws was and is carried on in part within this District. The acts complaint of have had, and will have, substantial anti-competitive effects within this District.

36. Plaintiff Vicky's is a California corporation that purchased foam indirectly from Defendants..

Accordingly, each of the Defendants maintains minimum contacts with this District more than sufficient to subject it to service of process and sufficient to comply with due process of law.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

The Polyurethane Foam Market

38. Polyurethane foams are used for cushioning and insulation. Common applications include pillows, mattresses, furniture cushions, automotive seat cushions, packaging, cosmetic applicators, carpet cushioning, sound control, building insulation, footwear, surfboards, and filtration media, among other uses.

39. Polyurethane foam refers to different types of foam consisting of polymers made of molecular chains bound together by urethane links. It can be flexible or rigid, but generally has a low density.

40. According to Chemical & Engineering News, flexible polyurethane foam is found in sofas and mattresses, while rigid polyurethane foams are used for building insulation and to repair cracks in buildings. These two types make up most of the polyurethane foam market, but there are two other types: “microcellular foam, which may be used to make car steering wheels or line the insides of athletic helmets, and elastomeric foam, which is typically used to make the outer sole of many types of footwear, including athletic shoes.”<sup>13</sup>

41. “The four classes of polyurethane foam, all with different physical properties, are created by varying a basic addition polymerization reaction involving a diol or polyol, a diisocyanate, and water.”<sup>14</sup>

42. “The diisocyanate reacts with the diol or polyol to create the urethane polymer. Water reacts with some of the isocyanate groups to produce carbon dioxide gas, and the bubbles get trapped in the viscous liquid as it polymerizes, expands, and solidifies....On a large scale, catalysts and surfactants can be added to boost the reactions and control the foaming process. A wide range of other additives, including stabilizers, dyes, fire retardants, and fungicides, may be added to meet specific performance demands. Auxiliary blowing agents, such as hydrofluorocarbons, liquid carbon dioxide, and acetone, are also typically used to prepare the foam. Ultimately, the kinds and amounts of raw materials used in the manufacturing process help determine how the final product performs.”<sup>15</sup>

43. According to the Polyurethane Foam Association (“PFA”), “To manufacture foam for cushioning, two basic procedures are used. In one, the chemical mix is poured onto a moving conveyor, where it is allowed to react and expand. Sides on the conveyor allow the foam to rise into a “bun” or slab anywhere from two to four feet high. The continuous slab is then cut, stored, and allowed to cure for up to 24 hours. This manufacturing procedure is the slabstock production process. The cured foam is subsequently fabricated into useful shapes. Most foams for use in furniture and bedding are produced this way.

44. “A second method, foam molding, is a process where individual items are produced by pouring foam chemicals into specially shaped molds and allowing the foam reaction to take place. This process is used primarily for automotive cushioning, although some contract furniture utilizes molded cushions.”<sup>16</sup>

45. “Flexible foams have mainly open cells, formed by gas bubbles that have popped. Air can pass through the foam easily, resulting in a soft, resilient, flexible material. In rigid foams, most of the cells stay closed. The material is thus harder and less resilient. Controlling the proportion of open cells to closed cells during the production process is one of the ways that the properties of foam can be manipulated, adding to the material’s versatility.”<sup>17</sup>

46. According to the PFA, flexible polyurethane foam (“FPF”) “is widely used for its qualities: it is light weight, resilient, quiet, low odor and resistant to mildew and other triggers of common allergies. FPF may also be molded and cut...More than 1.2 billion pounds of foam are produced and used every year in the U.S.”<sup>18</sup>

47. Rigid polyurethane foam is commonly used in construction. According to the Center for Polyurethanes Industry, it “has unique insulating properties that make it ideal for walls and roofs” because of its “remarkably strong, yet lightweight, low-density structure that is both dimensionally stable and moisture-resistant with low vapor transmission.” It is commonly used for insulation, and when sprayed, it “provides weatherproof sealants, forms a seamless layer of insulation, and fills gaps and seams during application and covers irregular, hard-to-insulate shapes.”<sup>19</sup>

48. In 2010, domestic revenue for polyurethane foam industry is expected to be approximately $12 billion. Furniture and furnishings account for 36.7% of industry revenue. The major products in this segment include pillows, seating, cushioning, mattress cores and quilt rolls. Transportation products account for 19.1% of the industry revenue. This segment includes foam used for automotive seating, protective cushioning and sound insulation in cars and light trucks. Building and construction account for 12% of industry revenue. Packaging products account for 5.3% of industry revenue. Major packaging products include protective shipping pads and food containers.

Market Factors Support the Existence of the Conspiracy

49. Various market factors make the polyurethane foam market susceptible to anticompetitive practices and unlawful collusion.

Significant Barriers to Entry

50. A collusive arrangement that raises product prices above competitive levels would, under basic economic principles, attract new entrants seeking to benefit from the supra-competitive pricing. Where, however, there are significant barriers to entry, new entrants are less likely. Thus, barriers to entry help to facilitate the formation and maintenance of a cartel.

51. There are significant barriers to entry in the polyurethane foam market. Entry requires, among other things, that a company incur significant start-up capital expenditures, including those needed for manufacturing facilities, and significant investment in a distribution network.

52. Existing manufacturers have established relationships with upstream suppliers and downstream purchasers, and can negotiate lower prices for raw materials and term contracts with major customers. Without these contacts, new entrants face significant hurdles to afford inputs and secure customers.

53. The industry has been consolidating rather than attracting new entrants. Major players within this industry have been active in acquiring smaller companies and other competitors over the course of the last ten years. For example:

- a) In 2007, Defendant Carpenter acquired its European competitor Dumo NV.
- b) In 2006, following the purchase of its parent corporation, Vitafoam Inc. sold one of its plants to Olympic Products LLC, a joint venture between Woodbridge and Hickory Springs, and another plant to Flexible Foam Products.<sup>20</sup>

Inelastic Demand

54. “Elasticity” is a term used to describe the sensitivity of supply and demand to changes in one or the other. For example, demand is said to be “inelastic” if an increase in the price of a product results in only a small, decline in the quantity sold of that product, if any. In other words, customers have nowhere to turn for alternative, cheaper products of similar quality, and so continue to purchase despite a price increase.

55. For a cartel to profit from raising prices above competitive levels, demand must be relatively inelastic at competitive prices. Otherwise, increased prices would result in declining sales, revenues and profits, as customers purchased substitute products or declined to buy altogether.

56. Demand for polyurethane foam is relatively inelastic. According to the Polyurethane Foam Association, “In furniture and bedding applications, short staple polyester fiber is often used instead of [flexible polyurethane foam], as is cotton, but both alternative materials have poor height recovery characteristics after compression. Steel springs also recover well but must be insulated from the user with some type of cushioning material. Comparing [flexible polyurethane foam] to alternative materials in the areas of economics, comfort potential, ease of use, and durability, there is not an acceptable substitute.”<sup>21</sup>

57. Defendants alleged here to be participants in the conspiracy represent a significant portion of the United States polyurethane foam market. Because of the prohibitive freight costs associated with transporting the low-cost, bulky material, imports from outside North America represent a negligible portion of the market.

<sup>21</sup> <http://www.pfa.org/faq.html>

Standardized Product with High Degree of Interchangeability

58. The PFA recognizes Polyurethane Foam as a commodity, which is interchangeable across manufacturers.

59. When products offered by different suppliers are viewed as interchangeable by purchasers, it is easier for the suppliers to unlawfully agree on the price for the product in question, and it is easier to effectively monitor agreed-upon prices. This makes it easier to form and sustain an unlawful cartel.

Opportunities to Conspire

60. Defendants are members of trade associations, including the PFA, International Sleep Products Association, and others.

61. Approximately 70% of U.S. Polyurethane Foam manufacturers are PFA members.

62. As discussed below, during trade association meetings – including PFA meetings – Defendants seized opportunities to meet in person to allocate customers and coordinate price increases.

Defendant Vitafoam's Admission of a Conspiracy

63. Upon information and belief, in February 2010, Vitafoam voluntarily approached the U.S. Department of Justice, Antitrust Division, to self-report evidence of illegal antitrust activities amongst itself and other companies and individuals in the industry (“competitors”) and to seek acceptance into the Antitrust Division’s Corporate Leniency Program. Since that time, Vitafoam and its employees have been cooperating with this investigation.

64. Upon information and belief, as a result of its application, Vitafoam has received a conditional leniency letter from the DOJ’s Antitrust Division. Under the DOJ Antitrust Division’s Corporate Leniency Policy (“DOJ Corporate Leniency Policy”), an applicant for leniency “must admit its participation in a criminal antitrust violation involving price fixing, bid rigging, capacity restriction, or allocation of markets, customers, or sales or production volumes before it will receive a conditional leniency letter.” Further, “A company that argues that an agreement to fix prices, rig bids, restrict capacity, or allocate markets might be inferred from its conduct but that cannot produce any employees who will admit that the company entered into such an agreement generally has not made a sufficient admission of criminal antitrust violation to be eligible for leniency. A company that, for whatever reason, is not able or willing to admit to its participation in a criminal antitrust conspiracy is not eligible for leniency.” (Department of Justice, Frequently Asked Questions Regarding the Antitrust Division’s Leniency Program and Model Leniency Letters (Nov. 19, 2008), <http://www.usdoj.gov/atr/public/criminal/239583.pdf>).

The Conspiracy to Fix Prices and Allocate Customers

65. Upon information and belief, an understanding and agreement existed among the competitors in the foam industry to collectively support price increases. This understanding and agreement was reached in actual discussions among competitors about the percentage of price increases, the dates of the increases, and how the conspirators would announce the increases with typically the same effective dates.

66. Upon information and belief, Defendants also agreed to avoid each other’s customers and not attempt to take business or market share from one another.

67. Upon information and belief, the participants in this conspiracy took numerous steps to avoid detection of their conspiracy. At times, full names would not be used in correspondence and instead participants would only using first names or initials. Conspirators took advantage of attending the PFA meetings along with their competitors and met to discuss coordinating price increases outside of the formal meetings. Similarly, competitors visited each other’s manufacturing facilities for the purported purpose of sharing technological and operational advances, but were actually using the opportunity to discuss coordinated price increases.

68. Virtually every known price increase in the industry, going back to at least 1999 and until Vitafoam's entry into the leniency program, has involved conspiratorial discussions among Defendants on pricing. Chemical price increases from the major suppliers were the impetus for discussions.

Efforts to Enforce the Conspiracy

69. Defendants also undertook efforts to police the conspiracy. Participants followed up after discussions with competitors to see if the specific price increases and effective dates were actually being implemented.

Trade Associations and Business Organizations

70. Various industry trade organizations or events facilitated Defendants' illegal conduct. Representatives of Defendants have regularly met through such organizations as the PFA, the International Sleep Products Association ("IPSA"), and Surfaces, a trade group which includes polyurethane carpet underlay producers.

71. As previously stated, representatives of Defendants reached agreements at these industry meetings held in the United States and abroad.

72. Representatives of Defendants disguised their attendance at these events as information gathering and merely used them as an opportunity to fix prices and divvy up their customers in person.

73. Representatives of Defendants not only had no intention of learning about the market at these meetings, they essentially controlled the market, and attended these meetings to further demonstrate their control.

Government Investigation

74. On or about July 27, 2010, it was publicly disclosed that the FBI, as part of a multi-jurisdictional investigation of polyurethane foam manufacturers, raided the offices of Carpenter and its competitors and seized documents and shuttered certain of Carpenter's offices.

75. Carpenter confirmed the investigation, saying: "In connection with a multi-jurisdiction investigation of the pricing practices to [sic] polyurethane foam products, the U.S. government has required that manufacturers of polyurethane foam, including Carpenter Co., produce information and documents. Carpenter Co. is being fully responsive and cooperative with the government to facilitate their review."

76. On or about that same day, the European Commission ("EC") raided the offices of several polyurethane foam manufacturers. Carpenter was one of the targets of the EC raids as well.

77. To obtain search warrants, as it appears that it did here against Defendant Carpenter and other Defendants, the United States must demonstrate to a Magistrate Judge probable cause, recounted in a sworn affidavit or testimony grounded on reasonably trustworthy information, that it would obtain evidence of an antitrust violation as a result of executing the search warrant. That is, the United States had to have evidence sufficient to warrant a person of reasonable caution to believe that raiding the offices of a seemingly lawful business would uncover evidence of antitrust violations.

78. The FBI and EC raids lend further support to the allegations of anticompetitive conduct in the market for polyurethane foam.

ACCRUAL OF CLAIM, CONTINUING VIOLATION, EQUITABLE TOLLING, AND FRAUDULENT CONCEALMENT

79. Plaintiff did not discover and could not discover through the exercise of reasonable diligence the existence of the conspiracy alleged herein prior to disclosure of Vitafoam's cooperation with the DOJ.

80. Defendants and their co-conspirators have committed continuing violations of the antitrust laws resulting in monetary injury to Plaintiff and Class members. These violations constitute injurious acts which restart the applicable statute of limitations

81. In addition, Defendants' and their co-conspirators' agreement, understanding and conspiracy in violation of the antitrust laws was kept secret. As a result, Plaintiff and the Class members were unaware of Defendants' unlawful conduct alleged herein and did not know that they were paying artificially high prices for polyurethane foam throughout the United States throughout the Class Period. Defendants and their co-conspirators affirmatively and fraudulently concealed their unlawful conduct.

82. Plaintiff and the Class members did not discover, nor could have discovered through reasonable diligence, that Defendants and their co-conspirators were violating the antitrust laws until shortly before this litigation was initially commenced, because Defendants and their co-conspirators used deceptive and secret methods to avoid detection and to affirmatively conceal their violations.

83. Neither Defendants nor their co-conspirators told Plaintiff or other Class members that they were fixing prices and allocating customers, or engaging in the other unlawful collusive practices alleged herein. By its very nature, Defendants' and their co-conspirators' conspiracy was inherently self-concealing.

84. Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a successful price-fixing and customer allocation conspiracy, which they affirmatively concealed:

- a. by meeting secretly (including use of private telephonic communications) to discuss prices, customers, and markets of polyurethane foam sold in the United States and elsewhere;
- b. by agreeing among themselves at meetings and in communications not to discuss publicly, or otherwise reveal, the nature and substance of the acts and communications in furtherance of their illegal scheme;
- c. by holding secret meetings outside and separate from the formal trade association meetings Defendants were publicly attending; and
- d. by disguising price-fixing meetings and communications as technical and operational meetings.

INJURY TO PLAINTIFF

85. The unlawful contract, combination and/or conspiracy alleged above had and is having, inter alia, the following effects:

- e. Prices charged by Defendants and their co-conspirators to suppliers to Plaintiff and the members of Class for polyurethane foam products were maintained at artificially high and supracompetitive levels;
- f. Plaintiff and members of the Class were required to pay more for products manufactured with polyurethane foam than they would have paid in a competitive marketplace unfettered by Defendants' and their co-conspirators' collusive and unlawful price-fixing; and

- g. Plaintiff and members of the Class have been deprived of the benefits of free, open and unrestricted competition in the market for polyurethane foam.

86. During and throughout the period of the contract, combination or conspiracy alleged above, Plaintiff and members of the Class indirectly purchased polyurethane foam from Defendants in the United States.

87. Plaintiff and the other Class members paid more for the products utilizing polyurethane foam than they would have paid under conditions of free and open competition.

88. As a direct and proximate result of the illegal combination, contract or conspiracy alleged above, Plaintiff and the members of the Class were injured and financially damaged in their businesses and property, in amounts that are not presently determined.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

89. Plaintiff incorporates by reference as if fully set forth herein the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint.

90. Plaintiff brings this action on its own behalf and as a class action pursuant to Rules 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and/or respective state statute(s), on behalf of all members of the following classes (the "Classes") with respect to claims under the antitrust and/or consumer protection statutes of each of the below jurisdictions and under common law principles of unjust enrichment recognized in each of those jurisdictions:

All persons or entities in California, Arizona, the District of Columbia, Florida, Hawaii, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wisconsin which purchased polyurethane foam indirectly from Defendants or their unnamed co-conspirators from January 1, 1999 to the present. Excluded from the Class are governmental entities, Defendants, their co-conspirators and their representatives, parents, subsidiaries and affiliates.

All persons or entities in California which purchased polyurethane foam indirectly from Defendants or their unnamed co-conspirators from January 1, 1999 to the present.

Excluded from the Class are governmental entities, Defendants, their co- conspirators and their representatives, parents, subsidiaries and affiliates (the “California Subclass”).

91. The precise number of Class members is unknown to Plaintiff. However, due to the nature of the trade and commerce involved, Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that the Class numbers in the thousands.

92. The Classes are so numerous and geographically dispersed that joinder of all members is impracticable.

93. Class members are identifiable from information and records in the possession of Defendants.

94. There are questions of law and fact common to the Classes. The antitrust, consumer protection and unjust enrichment statutes and laws of the Class jurisdictions are similar and require proof of the same elements. These common elements relate to the existence of the conspiracy alleged, the enrichment obtained by Defendants, and the type and common pattern of injury sustained as a result thereof. The questions include, but are not limited to:

- a. Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize the price charged for polyurethane foam sold in the United States;
- b. The identity of participants in the conspiracy;
- c. The duration of the conspiracy alleged in this Complaint and the nature and character of the acts performed by Defendants and their co-conspirators in the furtherance of the conspiracy;
- d. Whether the conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, caused injury to the business and property of Plaintiff and other members of the Classes;

- e. Whether the conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, unjustly enriched Defendants;
- f. The appropriate nature of class-wide equitable relief;
- g. The effect of Defendants' conspiracy on the prices of polyurethane foam in the United States during the Class Period; and
- h. The appropriate measure of damages sustained by Plaintiff and other members of the Classes.

95. Plaintiff is a member of the Classes. Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of other members of the Classes, and Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the members of the Classes. Plaintiff bought polyurethane foam indirectly from one or more Defendants. Plaintiff's interests are aligned with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. In addition, Plaintiff is represented by competent counsel experienced in the prosecution of class action antitrust litigation.

96. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

97. The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

98. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy because:

- a. It will avoid a multiplicity of suits and consequent burden on the courts and Defendants;

- b. It would be virtually impossible for all members of the Classes to intervene as parties-plaintiff in this action;
  - c. It will allow numerous individuals with claims too small to adjudicate on an individual basis because of the prohibitive cost of this litigation, to obtain redress for their economic injuries;
  - d. The prosecution of separate actions by individual Class members would create the risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants; and
  - e. It will provide court oversight of the claims process, once Defendants' liability is adjudicated.
99. This class action presents no difficulties of management that would preclude its maintenance as a class action.

INTERSTATE TRADE AND COMMERCE

100. The conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators has taken place in, and affected the continuous flow of interstate trade and commerce of the United States, in that, inter alia:

- a. Defendants and their co-conspirators have sold polyurethane foam directly and indirectly throughout the United States;
- b. Defendants and their co-conspirators have each used instrumentalities of interstate commerce to sell polyurethane foam throughout the United States;
- c. In furtherance of the conspiracy alleged herein, Defendants have traveled between states and have exchanged communications through interstate wire communications and via U.S. mail; and

- d. The conspiracy alleged herein has affected billions of dollars of commerce.

Defendants and their co-conspirators have inflicted antitrust injury by artificially raising prices paid by Plaintiff and other entities who are themselves engaged in commerce.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Violation of the Clayton Act)

101. Plaintiff incorporates by reference as if fully set forth herein the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint.

102. Beginning at a time presently unknown to Plaintiff, but at least as early as 1999 and continuing through the present, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding, and conspiracy in restraint of trade in violations of Section 4 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 15 and Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

103. In furtherance of the unlawful conspiracy, each of the Defendants and their co-conspirators has committed overt acts, including, inter alia:

- a. agreeing to charge prices at certain levels and otherwise to fix, increase, maintain and/or stabilize prices of polyurethane foam sold in the United States;
- b. participating in meetings, conversations, and communications with co-conspirators regarding prices to be charged for polyurethane foam;
- c. agreeing to allocate customers;
- d. meeting with co-conspirators in order to keep the existence of the conspiracy unknown as to foster the illegal anti-competitive conduct described herein; and
- e. refraining from competing by refusing to offer polyurethane foam at prices below the agreed-upon fixed price.

104. The combination and conspiracy alleged herein has had the following effects, among others:

- a. Price competition in the sale of polyurethane foam has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated;
- b. Prices for polyurethane foam sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels; and
- c. Those who purchased polyurethane foam indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

105. Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in the activities described above for the purpose of effectuating unlawful arrangements to fix, maintain, raise and/or stabilize prices of polyurethane foam.

106. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' illegal agreement, contract, combination trust and/or conspiracy, Plaintiff and the members of the Classes have been injured and damaged in their respective businesses and property according to proof and will continue to be damaged as long as Defendants' actions continue, and are accordingly entitled to injunctive relief pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 26.

107. The conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators constitutes a per se violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Violation of the California Cartwright Act)

108. Plaintiff incorporates by reference as if fully set forth herein the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint.

109. Beginning at a time unknown to Plaintiff and the Classes, but at least as early as 1999 and continuing through the present, Defendants engaged in a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the price of polyurethane foam in violation of § 16720 et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code. Defendants, and each of them, have acted in violation of Section 16720 to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the prices of, and allocate customers for, polyurethane foam at supracompetitive levels.

110. Defendants and their co-conspirators communicated at meetings and in conversations to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the price of polyurethane foam, reached agreements to curtail production of polyurethane foam, charged prices for polyurethane foam at certain levels and otherwise to increase and maintain prices.

111. Defendants' and their co-conspirators' contract, combination, and conspiracy consisted of a continuing agreement, understanding and concert of action between Defendants and their co-conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the price of polyurethane foam sold in the State of California and throughout the United States.

112. For the purpose of formulating and effectuating the aforesaid contract, combination and conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do including, but not limited to, the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above, and the following, among others:

- a. agreeing to charge prices at certain levels and otherwise to fix, increase, maintain and/or stabilize prices of polyurethane foam sold in the United States;
- b. participating in meetings, conversations, and communications with co-conspirators regarding prices to be charged for polyurethane foam;

- c. agreeing to allocate customers;
- d. meeting with co-conspirators in order to keep the existence of the conspiracy unknown as to foster the illegal anti-competitive conduct described herein; and
- e. refraining from competing by refusing to offer polyurethane foam at prices below the agreed-upon fixed price.

113. The activities described above were engaged in by Defendants and their co-conspirators for the purpose of effectuating the unlawful arrangement to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the prices of polyurethane foam.

114. The combination and conspiracy alleged herein had the following effects, among others:

- a. Price competition in the sale of polyurethane foam has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the State of California and throughout the United States;
- b. Prices for polyurethane foam sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels in the State of California and throughout the United States; and
- c. Those who purchased polyurethane foam indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

115. During the Class Period, Plaintiff and the members of the Classes indirectly purchased substantial quantities of polyurethane foam. By reason of the violations alleged herein, Plaintiff and the members of the Classes have been injured in their business and property in that they paid more for their purchases of polyurethane foam than they would have in the absence of Defendants' illegal contract, combination and conspiracy. As a result, Plaintiff and the members of the Classes have been injured and have suffered damages in an amount presently undetermined.

116. As a result of Defendants' and their co-conspirators' violation of Section 16720 of the California Business and Professions Code, Plaintiff seeks treble damages and costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, pursuant to Section 16750(a) of the California Business and Professions Code.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Violation of the California Unfair Competition Law)

117. Plaintiff incorporates by reference as if fully set forth herein the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint.

118. Beginning at a date unknown to Plaintiff and the members of the Classes, but at least as early as 1999 through the present, Defendants committed and continue to commit, acts of unfair competition, as defined by Sections 17200 et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code, commonly known as the Unfair Competition Law.

119. The Defendants' conduct as alleged herein violated Section 17200. The acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices and non-disclosures of Defendants, as alleged herein, constituted a common, continuous, and continuing course of conduct of unfair competition by means of unfair, unlawful and/or fraudulent business acts or practices within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code, Section 17200 et seq., including, but not limited to, the following:

- a. The violations of Section 16 of the Clayton Act and Section 1 of the Sherman Act as set forth above;
- b. The violations of Section 16720 et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code, set forth above;

- c. Defendants' acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices and non-disclosures, as described above, whether or not in violation of Section 16720 et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code, and whether concerted or independent acts, are otherwise unfair, unconscionable, unlawful and/or fraudulent;
- d. Defendants' acts and practices are unfair to consumers of polyurethane foam in the State of California and throughout the United States, within the meaning of Section 17200, California Business and Professions Code; and
- e. Defendants' acts and practices are fraudulent or deceptive within the meaning of Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code.

120. Plaintiff and each of the Class members are entitled to full restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation and benefits which may have been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business acts or practices.

121. The illegal conduct alleged herein is continuing and there is no indication that Defendants will not continue such activity into the future.

122. The unlawful and unfair business acts of Defendants, and each of them, as described above, have caused and continue to cause Plaintiff and the members of the Classes to pay supracompetitive and artificially inflated prices for polyurethane foam. Plaintiff and the members of the Classes have suffered injury in fact and lost money or property as a result of Defendants' acts of unfair competition.

123. The conduct of Defendants as alleged in this Complaint violates Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code.

124. As alleged in this Complaint, Defendants and their co-conspirators have been unjustly enriched as a result of their wrongful conduct and by Defendants' unfair competition.

Plaintiff and the members of the Classes are accordingly entitled to equitable relief including restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation and benefits which may have been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business practices, pursuant to the California Business and Professions Code, Sections 17203 and 17204.
